

The Office of Land Quality offers open sessions for consultants.

- Have questions about how to apply the Risk Integrated System of Closure (RISC) to a site clean-up or closure?
- Want to be able to submit a nondefault workplan, but not sure what's acceptable?
- Learn more about the current RISC issues such as vapor intrusion
- Discuss RISC-related situations and scenarios with OLQ staff

WHAT: RISC Availability Sessions for Consultants

WHERE: Indiana Government Center South, Indianapolis - Conference Room C

WHEN: July 16, 2003

TIME: 1:00 to end at 2:30

The Office of Land Quality will be offering several RISC availability sessions in the coming months. They will be held at various locations around the state Fort Wayne, Northwest Indiana, Evansville and Southeastern Indiana. These sessions will be conducted in a Question/Answer format in an informal setting. The purpose is to be able to provide current information to consultants who are using RISC to close sites. RISC staff will be available during these times to assist consultants. Updates and specific locations will be placed on the IDEM website (<http://www.in.gov/idem/land/risc/index.html>) and sent by email to those on the interested parties list prior to each session.

Due to space limitations, attendance at the July 16 session will be limited to the first 50 people who register with Sandie Meanor at smeanor@dem.state.in.us or call her at (317) 232-8997. Got questions about these sessions? Call Laura Steadham at 317-232-8866.
